ULLARD

The Panorama continues to move before the spectator for nearly two hours, and takes him over Six Miles through the streets of New York City, in the midst of its business-in places and through streets which to a stranger would be of most interest, and he would be most likely to visit; and while he is apparently passing along, he has extended perspective views of the buildings on both sides of upwards of Fifty Stroots-which collectively being about forty miles of buildings-giving him a view of the City and its People, as it would appear to him if he were to go there, and walk through the streets, among the people, the bustle and confusion of Our Empire City. He will have a faithful and exact view of the magnificent Churches, public and private Buildings, the Shipping and Steamboats, Horses and Carringes, Omnibuses, Railroad Cars, and the Thousands of People who daily throng the streets of New York. Distinguished men and acquaintances are readily recognized among the crowd of persons in the streets. The signs can be read the same as if you were in the city. as all are faithfully represented upon this painting-public and private processions, Military Companies, Firemen and their Engines, Bands of Music, &c., &c. While the Panorama moves before the spectator, over 700 Horses and Carriages pass in view, and more than 10,000 of the people of the city, at their daily business.

It is impossible to state all that is to be seer on this moving painting. Persons in viewing it can hardly persuade themselves that they are not actually in the city among its business and bustle-viewing the citizens and strangers, as they really are, in every day life, at their avocations; and persons unacquainted in New York city, will get a better view, and Gain more Information of the city and its people, by once seeing this Panorama, than they would to actually visit the city and walk its streets and thoroughfares for ten days, as thousands of persons have testified.

At each exhibition of the Panorama, as it passes before the spectator, an Explanatory Lecture will be given by Mr. George Doel, one of the proprietors, or Mr. Albert Norton, or D. C. Damon-illustrative of New York City, its statistics, Imsidess and resources-its people, their "go-ahead-ativeuess," manners and customs-much valuable knowledge of great importance to a stranger and of general and instructive information to EVERYBODY.
